Will You Become a Servant of Our Servant Lord?

There is a church that sits gracefully in a wooded glen, on the corner of Hillcrest and Long Streets in charming New Johnsonville, Tennessee. Like many churches in our modern era, the quaint mid-century stucco chapel goes by and disappears from the mindset of all who pass her by. Yet she has been sitting on that corner since 1960.

St. Andrew's Episcopal Church is her concentrated name. There are denominations with a more exclusive view of their Christian community, yet most people who attend are there because of the convictions of their heart. St. Andrew's may be likened unto a treasure in a field because God lives there.

On Sunday, November 26, at 10:30 a.m., the Rev. Jody Howard of Nashville will preach and celebrate communion. Also, an important discussion will be held about the future of St. Andrew's. Please pray about this, and come to St. Andrew's and worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness. A lunch will be served in the parish hall and the conversation and fellowship will continue. We need you to consider making St. Andrew's your church home.

What to Expect?

First of all, our church believes that the church is holy because the Holy Spirit dwells in it; it consecrates its members and guides them to do God's will. The worship is filled with the reading of God's word from the beginning to the end.

What is a Liturgical Church?

A liturgical church means that all the people, clergy, choir, and congregation are participants in the worship service, and that everything has meaning. There are also moments of silence before worship as it calms our hearts to allow God to meet us where we are. This becomes a time of reflection and contemplation. Kneeling also occurs, as this represents moments of humility and reverence and many Christians consider it to be an appropriate form of piety. There is some standing during the service to show respect for the the clergy entering and leaving the room, and we stand to praise God with affirmations of faith.

The Communion Service

Holy Communion is open to all Christians. You say, "I wasn't raised like that!" Then sit, observe, and pray for God to give you the grace to fulfill his word in your life. You may come forward for a blessing by crossing your arms in front of you. We will be happy to pray for you. God loves sinners who come to him.

Have Questions?

Contact us at standrewsepiscopalchurch@gmail.com. Would you like to be visited by a member of St. Andrew's? Our very future depends on your choice. Fish or cut bait?

EVANGELISM AND ST. ANDREW'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH AT NEW JOHNSONVILLE, TN

Evangelism and St. Andrew's Episcopal Church are not a contradiction in terms. Episcopalians have been vowing to proclaim, by word and example, the good news of God in Christ for generations. It is hardly breaking news that in New Johnsonville and Humphreys County, there are many people who would never darken the door of a traditional church. Perhaps they sought but never encountered the living God in a traditional church. Perhaps they felt unwelcome in the church of their roots and by extension, in all established churches. Perhaps they believe the secular script that Christians are all judgemental and even hypocritical. Maybe the habit of joining a community of faith is more than a generation removed from their experience. Whatever the reason, they are not driving around looking for the red doors or an Episcopal church!

Please know that Episcopalians are riding the groundswell of evangelism, and believe that a world that knows God knows God's love, and a world that interprets that love through the person of Jesus Christ is a better world.

Would you not like to be part of a community and setting that offers the stories of Jesus, clear of whatever reasons previously kept you away? One can become a church within the identity of a congregation. Yes, all this is possible and yet we are limited only by one's willingness to do the careful work of evaluating and discernment. The vineyard of our Lord is ripe for innovation. God's love is grounded in compassion and justice.

So have any of these ideas resonated within you? Come and See! Sundays at 10:30 a.m. at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, on the corner of Long and Hillcrest Streets in beautiful New Johnsonville. Contact us at standrewsepiscopalchurch@gmail.com.
